Pattern + Paper

By Natalie Bannister

From textile inspirations to graphic bang, these pattern-heavy wallpapers add some major zing to the feature wall.

1. 'Looking for Water' by cloth was born from the fabric house's signature contemporary hand printed textile designs created by artist and designer Julie Paterson. clothfabric.com

2. Joel Dewberry's 'Blockprint Blossom' in a delicious 'Wicked Pink' hue ups the impact on a traditional print. Available from Wallpaper Republic, it's decadently divine! wallpaperrepublic.com

3. The 'Queen' collection from Scandinavian Wallpaper and Decor gives a modern spin to classical baroque style, with contemporary patterns printed using genuine, traditional surface printing methods. scandinavianwallpaperco.com

4. Kilim is the latest design in the 'Caravan' collection of hand screen printed wallpapers by one of our favourite new Australian designers, Quercus&Co. Shown here in 'Damascus', the large-scale geometric print is in the style of the hand woven carpets of the Middle East. quercusandco.com

5. Thibaut 'Bimini' Ikat wallpaper in blue and green from Boyac takes its cue from the loom woven textiles of South East Asia, with a range of colours (and there's even matching fabrics!) to choose from. Phone In House Agencies on 07 3254 3111. boyac.com.au
